

Assignment D: Interaction Design & prototyping

By: Vasil Todorov

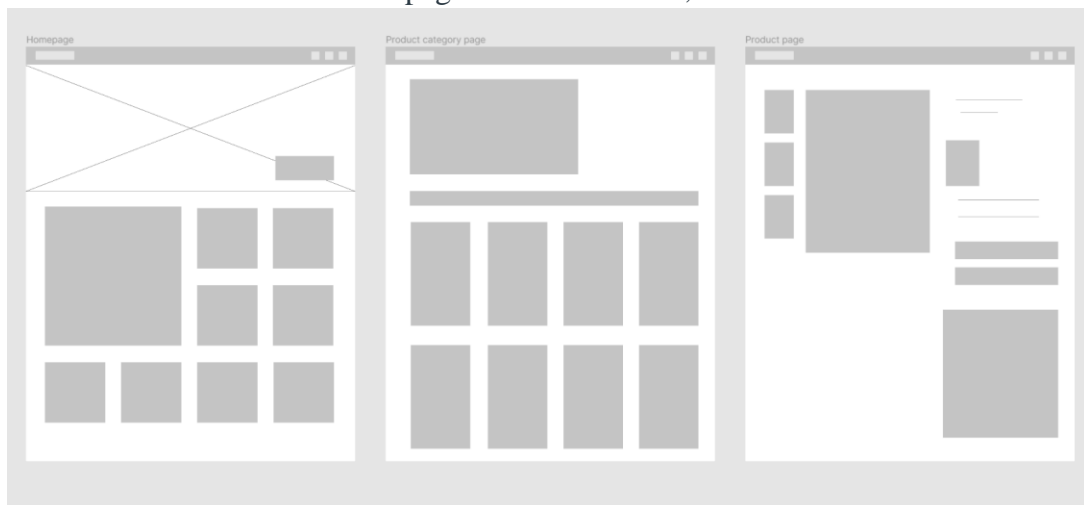

Student number: 4617002

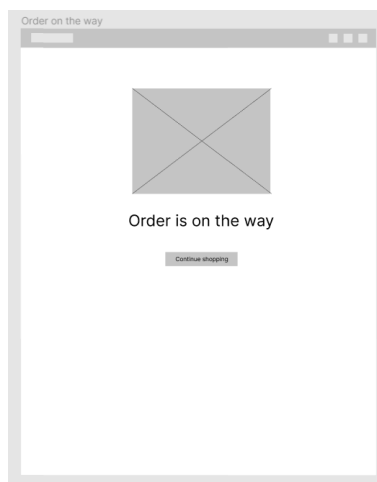

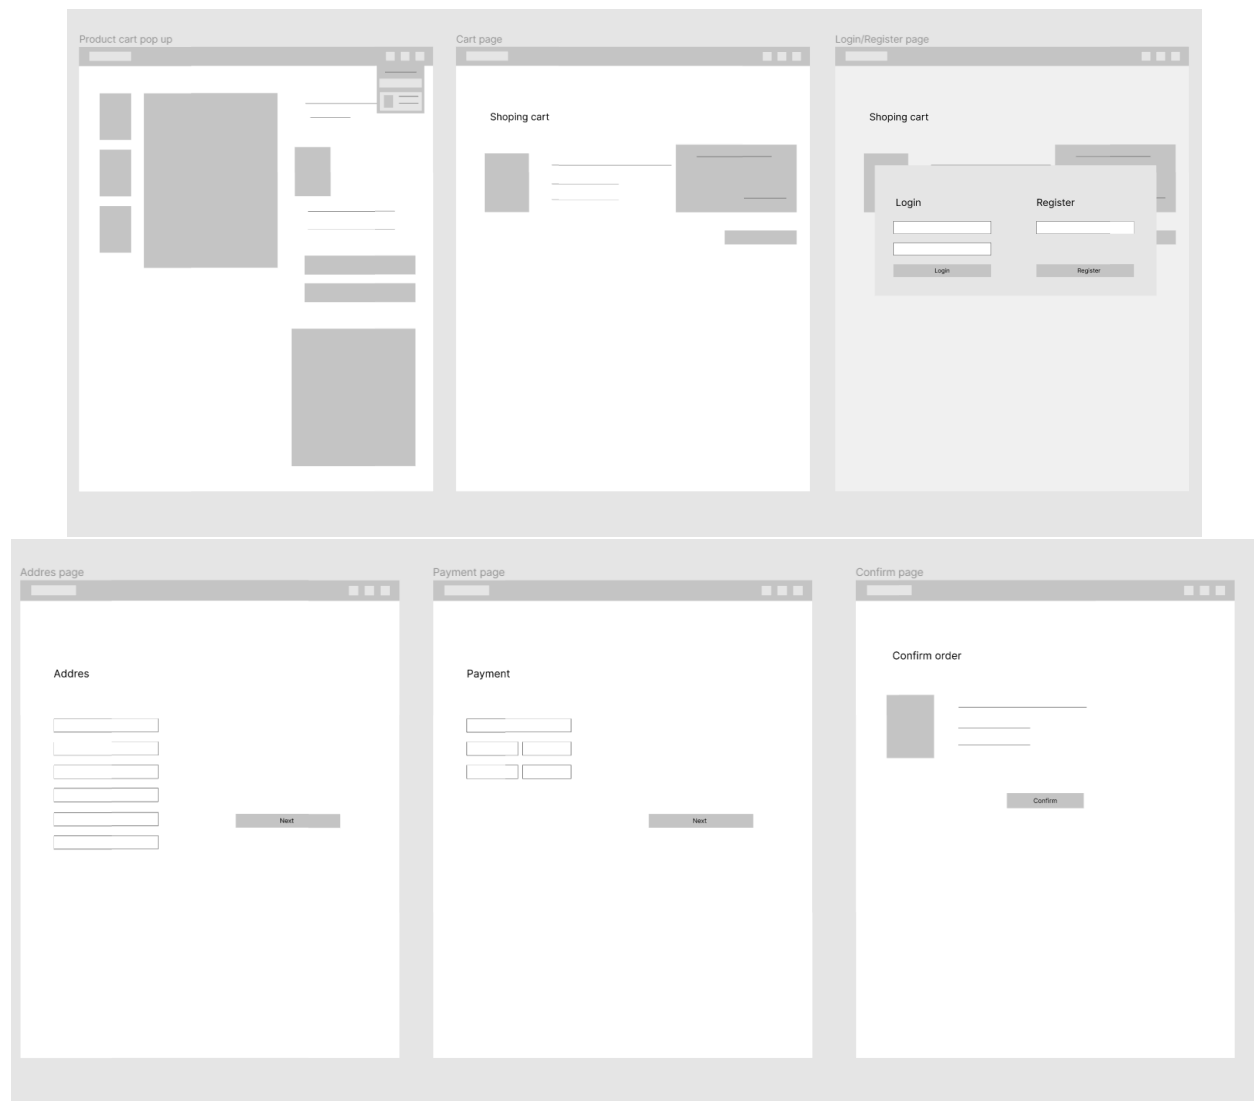

For this assignment I have created a paper sketch, a low-fidelity wireframe and a high-fidelity interactive prototype for the fictional web site called T-shirt.com. The whole design process started by creating some rough paper sketches to get a base idea of how the website would look here is how it looked at the start:

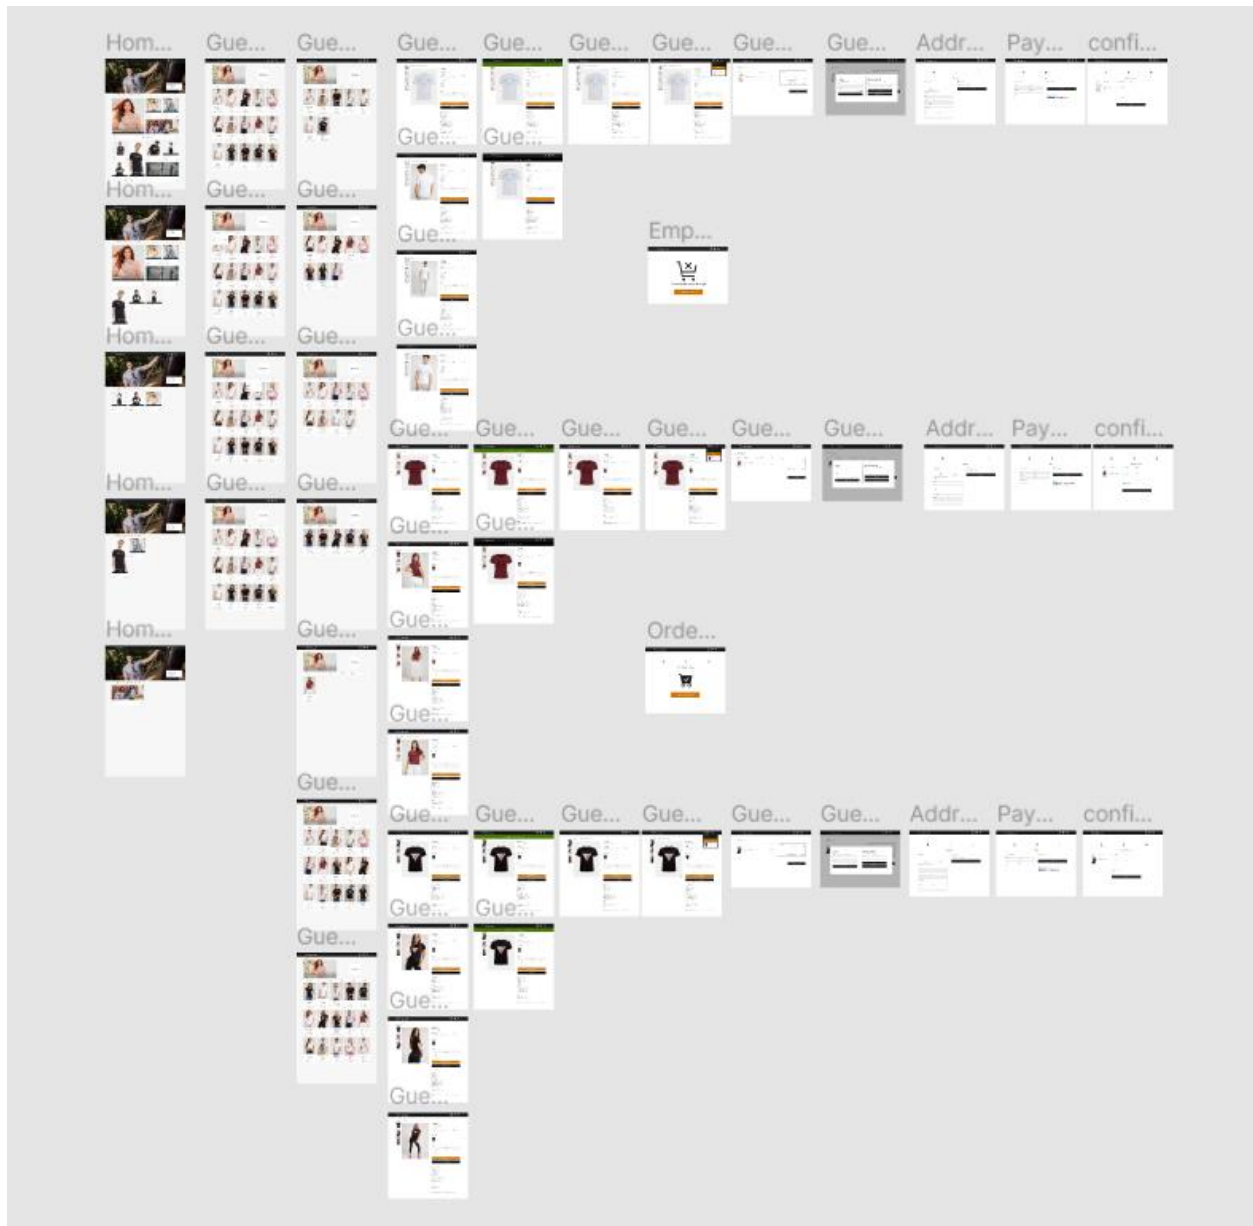

Shortly after creating the paper sketches, I started working on a low fidelity wireframe to get a even better idea of how the website would look when seen from a web browser. Here are all the page in the wireframe,

Naturally the next step was to start creating the high-fidelity interactive prototype. The high-fidelity interactive prototype has in total 57 frames so here I will be showing only few of them all can be found in the pdf called: T-shirt.com interactive prototype frames.pdf

Here a few of the pages:

The Design process:

The whole design process is based on the idea that you should slowly move from a very rough outline to one that features a medium level of detail to one that features a lot of detail. Here are a few examples:

Interactivity:

The website features a lot of interactive functions enabling the user to have many options when it comes to choosing how they want to finish their main task. The interactive prototype can be accessed through the attached figma file or through this link:

<https://www.figma.com/proto/qfwQmruMO8FUrXrO1bCtFe/T-shirt.com-interactive-prototype?node-id=1%3A1682&scaling=min-zoom&page-id=0%3A1&starting-point-node-id=1%3A1682>

Interactions:

When you first start using the interactive prototype you are greeted by the home page here you can find the navigation buttons:

The logo and the home button lead you to the home page and this is also a valid function for every page on the prototype.

The cart button leads you to the empty basket page if you have not gotten to the stage where you are buying an item.

When it comes to the carts below only the carts for: GUESS, GUESS For Her and GUESS For Him are working. The GUESS cart leads you to the product page. The GUESS For Her and the GUESS For Him lead to the product page with filters applied for men and ladies representing which cart you click.

Next in the product page we can find a few working filters: CATEGORIES, COLOR and TO SORT are all working and sort the items found below.

Because the nature of all these filters there are 3 products that are interactive in this page so that whatever filters the user chooses, they can continue using the website here are the items that are interactive. The next interactions are the same for all 3 products so I will only be showing them on one of them.

Next, we have the buttons on the product page. We have a button for adding to cart and for adding to favorites.

The buttons both show a banner at the top of the page when moving to the next frame, so it is easier for the user to understand that their action did something.

Go to checkout

If the choose to go to checkout they get the option to log in. If the choose to login they skip the step for adding their address because we consider that that is information that is saved in you profile if you choose to register or continue as a guest they are taken to the enter your address page.

The screenshot shows a web interface with two main sections: 'Login' and 'New Customer'. The 'Login' section on the left has a heading 'Login', a subtext 'Enter your email address and password to login to your account.', and two input fields for 'Email' and 'Password'. A link 'Forgot your password?' is below the password field. A black 'Login' button is at the bottom. The 'New Customer' section on the right has a heading 'New Customer', a subtext 'Create your account to track your online orders and checkout faster.', and an 'Email' input field. Below it are two black buttons: 'Register' and 'Continue as a guest'. On the far left, a small vertical image of a person is visible. On the far right, a partial list of prices is visible: '7,50 €', '95 €', and '5 €'.

The next 3 pages feature simple interactions for the steps needed to add your person information for the order.

The screenshot shows a progress bar at the top with three steps: '1 To send', '2 Pay', and '3 To confirm'. The main heading is 'To send'. Below it, there are two columns: 'Shipping Address' and 'Billing address'. The 'Shipping Address' column has two options: 'home address' (selected with a house icon) and 'Collection point' (with a location pin icon). Below these are input fields for 'First name', 'Last name', 'Street & House Number', 'addition (optional)', 'Postal Code', 'City', and 'Country'. The 'Billing address' column has a checkbox for 'Choose a different billing address'. A black 'FURTHER' button is at the bottom right.
